

WHITE PAPER - CONCEPT

An innovative written piece on the soil-human health nexus. Building up from the effort many key stakeholders have put in the last years, the time is ripe for advances in the field from many perspectives. There is more attention from the scientific community, and much work is being done in practice. Yet there are still multiple pathways to be built together. A multi-disciplinary piece reaches many actors and industries, creating impact across the board.

CONTENT

- Analysis of the most recent data
- Advances in the field
- Blueprints - Case studies
- Call for action
- Future needs for research

IMPACT:

Over 20.000
reads

Companies

NGOs

Farmers

Health Professionals